PREVENTION NETWORK ANNOUNCES NEW BOARD MEMBERS

Syracuse, NY—Prevention Network announced today the appointment of three new members to its board of directors. The new board members will each serve a three-year term under the leadership of incoming board president Hunter Hillers. The new members are Henry Brigham, Matt Costello, and Allison Stevens.

Henry Brigham is a self-employed entrepreneur who operates a marketing communications company—Proforma Sole Source Communications—which assists businesses in planning and executing their marketing goals. He brings extensive experience in the areas of public relations, advertising, and project management. Henry has been appointed to the public relations committee. He is a resident of Camillus.

Matt Costello has been employed by the City of Syracuse for over 23 years and now holds a supervisory position in the Department of Water. He has previous experience board experience and continues to work as a volunteer member for a local non-profit fundraising committee. His board assignment is pending. Matt is a life-long resident of Syracuse.

Allison Stevens is employed by CXtec of Syracuse where she has managed numerous special events and fund-raising activities. She has graciously agreed to take a leadership position as co-chair of the agency's annual dinner event and is a member of the board's fundraising committee. Allison is a resident of Syracuse.

Prevention Network is a not-for-profit agency that educates, trains, and provides prevention services pertaining to substance use, abuse, and addictions to the Central New York community.
